

The 34th ACM International Collegiate Programming Contest

The Oklahoma State University chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery would like to invite you to participate in the local qualifier of the 34th ACM International Collegiate Programming Contest.

When: Saturday
September 26, 2009
10:00am – 12:00pm (arrive by 9:45am, please)

Where: MSCS 222

Who: Open to all undergraduate and first-year graduate students, who are enrolled at least half-time.

Why: Four undergraduate and two graduate students will have the opportunity to represent OSU in the regional programming contest (in ECU, Ada, OK.)

Claim the title: “Best Programmer at OSU”

Free food and drinks

Languages: C, C++, and Java
Language guides and references are permitted.

What to expect: You will solve problems by implementing a solution in a programming language.

Good problem solving skills are needed!

For a good idea of the contest, view problems and the results of 2008’s regional contest at:

<http://acm2008.cct.lsu.edu/>

For more info, visit www.cs.okstate.edu/acm

OSU has placed in the top ten at the regional competition in recent years, and won 1st and 3rd places at the Oklahoma contests earlier. Whether you are involved in the ACM or not, we invite you to participate in this year’s local contest. Food and drinks will be provided for contestants, and the first place winner will proudly claim the title of “Best Programmer at OSU”.

